Matson Navigation Company Hopes to Get Manoa Away From San Francisco Next Friday With Small Freight List and Mail

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless)
SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., June 3.—The full demands of the striking longshoremen have been granted temporarily by the Toyo Kisen Kaisha line.

The union men are confident that other big shipping interests will follow suit.

That the strike situation at San Francisco now seems more favorable for an early settlement, is the report received today at Castle & Cooke, agency for the Matson Navigation Company, in a cablegram from their San Francisco office.

The cablegram says that while no steamers are now leaving San Francisco, there are hopes of getting the Manoa away Friday of next week, instead of Tuesday, her regular sailing time. The Manoa, if she does sail, will bring no freight except ice-house cargo and mail.

U. S. MILITARY PLANS AROUSE JAPAN LEADERS

Army and Navy Bill Passage Followed by Meeting of Tokio Party Chiefs

That the new army and navy bill of the United States, calling for large interests has stirred the Japanese statesmen to sudden activity is the news received by the Hawaii Hichi today in a cablegram reporting to be from the Japanese paper's special correspondent in Tokio. The cablegram says:

TOKIO, June 3.—Gen. Goro Miura, a court counselor, interviewed leaders of all the strong political parties on the 30th of May and strongly emphasized need for national defense. In this conference the various parties agreed to unite as one.

The parties and their representatives present in this important conference were Baron K. Kato, ex-minister of foreign affairs and president of the "Doshikai," the government party; K. Inagaki, president of the National party; and K. Hara, the president of the Seiyukai, the anti-government party.

It is known that the most important questions which they discussed without party spirit were that of Japan's policy after the European war, the Chinese question and Japan's national defense.

ARMY BILL NOW LAW; IS SIGNED BY MR. WILSON

Rejoicing at Army and National Guard Headquarters That Measure is Law

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless)
WASHINGTON, D. C., June 3.—President Wilson today signed the army reorganization bill. Senator E. D. Smith of South Carolina, was presented with the pen as a souvenir.

Among the features of particular interest to Hawaii in this bill is that it provides for the appointment of the adjutant-general of the National Guard by the President, the adjutant-general to be a resident of the Territory.

News that the President had signed the army bill caused rejoicing in army headquarters this morning when transmitted there by the Star-Bulletin. Because the President had delayed for so many days in signing the measure, it was coming to be the feeling with more than one officer that it might be rejected altogether.

Officers who have been studying on the examinations for promotion will take a new lease on their work. It was pointed out today, and will bend every effort to their books for a chance at the promotions which are to take place in July.

Clerks at headquarters are still doubtful as to what their portion is to be among the schemes for increasing the army, but it is generally felt that some sort of an increase in pay or privileges will be accorded them.

British and German Vessels Lost in North Sea Struggle

GERMAN OFFICIAL REPORT OF NAVAL BATTLE OFF JUTLAND

The official announcement of Germany on the North Sea battle was received today by cable from Berlin. The announcement says:

The German admiralty reports that during an enterprise directed northward, our High Sea Fleet on May 31 encountered main part of English fighting-fleet, which was considerably superior to our forces. During the afternoon, between Skagerrak and Horns Reef, a heavy engagement developed, which was successful for us, and continued during whole night.

In this engagement as far as known to the present, there were destroyed by us the large battleship Warspite, the battle-cruisers Queen Mary and Indefatigable, two armored cruisers apparently of the Achilles type, one small cruiser, new flagships of the destroyers, the Turbinant, Nestore and Alcazar, and a large number of torpedo boats and one submarine.

By observation which was free and clear of obstruction, it was stated that a large number of English battleships suffered damage from our ships and the attacks of our torpedo boat flotillas during the day and in an all-night engagement. Among others, the large battleship Marlborough was hit by a torpedo, which is confirmed by prisoners.

Several of our ships rescued part of the sunk English ships' crews, among whom were only two survivors of the Indefatigable. On our side, the small cruiser Wiesbaden was sunk by hostile artillery fire during the day engagement, and His Majesty's ship Pommern during the night by a torpedo. The fates of His Majesty's ship Frauenlob, which is missing, and of some torpedo boats which have not yet returned, are as yet unknown.

The High Sea Fleet today returned to our ports.

ESJBERG, Denmark, June 3.—Fishermen arriving here have reported that they saw two destroyed Zeppelins at sea and that the crew of one had been lost.

Esjberg or Esjberh is a small fishing port at the junction of Denmark and Schleswig-Holstein. The news gives indication that in the great naval battle the Zeppelins were used possibly for scouting or attack.

BERLIN DECLARES DAMAGE TO ENGLISH VASTLY THE GREATER; MAMMOTH WARSHIPS ENGAGED

LONDON DECLARES DREADNOUGHT WESTFALEN DESTROYED, CLAIM MARLBOROUGH SAVED—GERMAN ASSERTIONS CONTRADICT

(Associated Press Service by Federal Wireless)
BULLETIN.
LONDON, Eng., June 3.—An unconfirmed report this afternoon says that eight German warships have taken refuge in Danish waters, have been notified to leave within 24 hours, and that a British fleet is waiting outside for them.

The British admiralty this afternoon issued the following later statement:

"Reports account for two German battle cruisers. We have the German admission that they lost two battleships. The sinking of four German light cruisers is reported and the Germans acknowledge the loss of six destroyers. There is good hope that the German loss is even greater."

The London Daily News in an editorial today urges the removal of Lord Fisher as first sea lord of the admiralty to replace Admiral Jackson. "The country needs Lord Fisher at this urgent hour," says the news.

Vice-Admiral David Beatty, who was in charge of the battle-cruiser squadron of the fleet, is safe, it was definitely learned today.

A despatch from Copenhagen this afternoon says that the German torpedo-boat No. 25 was sunk, and that the three survivors "lost last the crew of a hundred were lost. As a whole, says the report, the German losses were 'colossal.'"

An Amsterdam despatch says that six German destroyers were sunk, and that a damaged cruiser was towed into Kiel. It is estimated that 100 vessels were engaged in the battle.

Wounded men arriving by train from the sea-ports where the warships docked were wildly cheered today on route to London hospitals.

Capt. Sowerby, former naval attaché at Washington, Captain Gay of the Indefatigable, Captain Frowse of the Invincible and the captain of the Queen Mary have been lost.

A report from Admiral Sir John Jellicoe says: "We went within enemy waters seeking a fight. Our inferior fleet engaged the entire German fleet, forced them to return to harbor, and to abandon any action contemplated."

(Associated Press Service by Federal Wireless)
LONDON, England, June 3.—The latest statement from the British admiralty declares that in Wednesday's great naval battle the British sought out the German fleet and drove it back to cover.

BERLIN, Germany, June 3.—Germany's High Sea fleet in the battle off Jutland held the field. This is shown by the rescue of British survivors.

LONDON, Eng., June 3.—That the British losses in the naval battle off the island of Jutland last Wednesday afternoon and night totaled 5,000 men, due to the loss of several ships and all or most of their crews, is the estimate of experts, based on the announcements so far received from the Admiralty office.

These figures include the loss of all on board the battle-cruiser Queen Mary, which had a complement of 1,100 men.

The German losses are probably as many, if reports of the number of German warships lost is confirmed.

CLAIMS DREADNOUGHT WESTFALEN DESTROYED.
A wireless from Berlin today says that the German admiralty admits the loss of the great dreadnought Westfalen.

Earlier additions to the roster of the German losses include the destruction of the German cruiser Elbing, while the British destroyer Shark has been sunk with nearly all of her crew.

The latest British statement shows that the Admiralty views the outcome of the battle as not at all unfavorable to the British. The Admiralty asserts that the British sought out the German navy, engaged the entire German fleet with inferior forces, and compelled the enemy to put back to cover.

DENY LOSS OF MARLBOROUGH AND WARSPITE.
The British super-dreadnought Marlborough, which was torpedoed, has been towed into port.

The British super-dreadnought Warspite was damaged by gunfire.

The officers of the British warships Invincible, Indefatigable, Defence, Black Prince and Queen Mary have been lost. Among the loss is Rear-Admiral Hood, who was aboard the Invincible and went down with that vessel.

Berlin Declares British Were Badly Battered, Losing Many Torpedo Boats
BERLIN, Germany, June 3.—In the face of a huge fleet of the British naval vessels, the Germans last Wednesday battled until they were able to maintain the field. The fact that the Germans rescued the British survivors as their vessels were going down proves that it was the Germans who held the field.

The full German High Sea Fleet was engaged in the battle. The German admiralty in an announcement today says that at least 34 British capital ships (that is, those of the big classes) were engaged.

The British torpedo-boat flotillas were severely handled by the German gunners. The Westfalen along sank six torpedo boats.

The German losses were small in comparison with those of the British.
